

EASPD Communications Network Workshop

Effective communication in times of crisis

Tuesday 9th June: 09:30-11:00 CEST, Zoom

The recent COVID-19 outbreak has made it more important than ever for our members to raise awareness for the crucial support they provide to persons with disabilities and the resources they need to be able to do this. In the face of the pandemic, supporting the communication of accurate and accessible information to persons with disabilities, their families and other partners has also been crucial.

This webinar will bring together members of EASPD's Communications Network to share their experiences of communicating during the current health crisis and discuss how, moving forward, we can share our messages more effectively.
